

A New Direction

Looking for beauty in the darkness of night

Summer on the Horizon

As the earth slowly shifts from brown to green, spring plays its familiar game. A warm day drifts in like a promise, only to give way to rain—as if reminding us the season isn't finished yet. But we're not so easily convinced. There's a quiet sense beneath it all. Summer is close.

So make your plans, not in haste, but with intention. Claim your place in what's coming. Because soon enough, without warning, the long, lazy days will arrive—and linger.

Settings: ISO 200 f/4 @ 1/4000 秒

Camera: Sony A7R5 + Sony 24-70mm GMII

Trevor Williams was born and raised in Vancouver, Canada where he married his Japanese wife. Looking for a change of pace, he moved to Okayama, Japan in 2001 where he has lived ever since. He is currently working as a photographer shooting mostly lifestyle and a wide range of other assignments. He spends his spare time photographing the night.

